FROM THE DESK OF EDITOR

By the grace of Allah SWT, the Pakistan Journal of Surgery has successfully completed 32 years of publication. During these years it went through some good periods and some bad periods but with the help of Allah SWT, we managed to tackle all those obstacles which were creating hindrance to publish our journal.

I am thankful to the president of Society of Surgeons Pakistan, Prof Abdul Razzaque Sheikh for his useful guidance and I am also thankful to the General Secretary of the Society of Surgeons of Pakistan for his cooperation and useful tips.

We have improved our panel of reviewers and included a good number of reviewers from United Kingdom and other countries. Our advisory board is always helpful for improvement in Pakistan Journal of Surgery. My special thanks to Prof Zaki uddin G Oonwala, Editor Emeritus, whom we always found to be ready to support us. His useful advices created a lot of help in the improvement of Pakistan Journal of Surgery. It would be unfair if I would not mention the name of Prof Khalid Mehmood whose support was vital in the continuity of the publication of Pakistan Journal of Surgery.

Publication of a scientific journal is always an uphill task. It involves sustained effort to get good manuscript, send them for reviewing, editing if necessary and a lot of secretarial and publisher infrastructure. Alhamdulillah, PJS has been regularly published for past 32 years. We will strive hard to further improve the journal and aim to be at par with renowned similar journals, In sha Allah!
